RUTH CAMPBELL, LCSW

Ruth Campbell, LCSW is the Program Director for the International Institute’s Cultural Adjustment and Trauma Services (CATS) program, which is part of the National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN). The program addresses the needs of immigrant children and their families in the schools of Northern New Jersey. She has lived and worked in international settings and for the last 3 years and has provided clinical services to a diverse group of immigrants, refugees and asylum seekers from around the globe at the International Institute’s Cross Cultural Counseling Center.

Ms. Campbell has extensive experience working with individuals and groups in a youth correctional facility and at with risk youth in an alternative correctional program. Additionally, she has worked with at risk and homeless low-income families and individuals, providing emergency services and short-term counseling and advocacy.